The Science of Storytelling

How does storytelling impact our effectiveness as communicators of the Gospel? In what ways can we learn the science so that the art of storytelling can flourish. From how we view the Scriptures to practical tips on ways to draw out spiritual truths from the Bible, this session sets a strong foundation to ensure teachers are connecting their lesson to the heart of God as the foundation for how we live a moral and virtuous life.

The Master Storyteller

A.W. Tozer said, "What comes into a person's mind when they think about God is the most important thing about them." If this is true, perhaps we need to discover our own perspectives of God so that we view this world correctly through the lens of Scripture and our relationship with the Creator. This illustrated message will provide powerful perspectives to people of all ages.

Personal Growth Plan

When leaders are stagnant in their growth it won't be long until the team begins to become unstable. It is critical for leaders to have intentional growth plans and a strategy to invest in those they are leading. This practical workshop will help leaders set a direction for their own personal growth and their ministry.

Unleashing Creativity

Ideas are generated when we get creative. Yet teams often fall into basic traps and fall short of truly unleashing their creativity. Discover practical rules that will help your team truly be creative. Creative ideas can happen anywhere and out of the blue. Even the most "creatively challenged" can participate when they understand these rules.

Unders of Leadership

Discover some of the most underdeveloped and underutilized traits of leaders. When these traits are put on cruise control teams will begin to struggle to move forward. However, when these traits are addressed by the leader, the team can begin moving ahead with efficiency and accomplishing something great together.
