

Rev. Jen Whalen Bio

Project & Event Manager
National Children's Ministries

Jen and her husband, Tim, have been married since 2003. They share 2 beautiful children, Timmy and Gracie. Her kids love Jesus and are following His call on their lives. Jen grew up in the ministry and attended Zion Bible College (now Northpoint Bible College) earning her degree in Church Ministries with an emphasis on Christian Education. She has served in the roles of Children's Pastor, Christian Education Director, Leadership Development Coordinator, and has been involved in children's ministries for most of her life. Throughout her years in ministry, Jen has enjoyed mentoring leaders. Her vision has always been to raise up a generation of kids and leaders who know who they are in Christ, can confidently operate in their giftings, and allow God to work through them to effectively reach this world for Jesus Christ. Partnering with kids ministry leaders to develop quality discipleship tools is necessary to raise a generation of lifelong followers of Christ. Jen believes that there is nothing more rewarding than being a part of this initiative to teach kids to be deeply rooted in their relationship with Jesus and for them to be a powerhouse for the Lord by answering His call on their lives.

In addition to working in children's ministries, she is professional interpreter for the Deaf and has been involved in Deaf Ministries for more than 25 years. Jen now serves as the Project and Event Manager for National Children's Ministries.
